About Amur Minerals

The Amur Group's principal asset is the 100% owned Kun-Manie exploration licence, a nickel-copper deposit located in the Amur Province in the far east of the Russian Federation. The Kun-Manie licence area is approximately 950 km² and is located 700 km northeast of the capital city of Blagoveshchensk and is 750km north of the Chinese border. In April 2004 ZAO Kun-Manie, a wholly owned subsidiary of Amur, was granted a licence to explore for nickel and related metals, including copper and platinum, in respect of the Kun-Manie licence.

Work carried out to date on the Kun-Manie licence including diamond core drilling, trenching and geological mapping has identified four mineralised targets, the Vodorazdelny, Ikeniskoe, Maly Krumkon and Falcon zones each of which warrant further exploration. The four zones are located within a 15 kilometer long segment of the 40 kilometre long Krumkon Trend. This trend is the primary exploration target within the licence area. An additional two targets identified as Chornie Ispelene and Kubuk have been identified within the trend and also require additional geological investigation and drilling. In combination, the six zones are located along approximately 50% of the length of the Krumkon Trend. The remainder of the trend also contains additional potential based on geochemical sampling and geological mapping which has identified anomalously mineralized host structures needing additional reconnaissance and detailed exploration work.

To date, detailed exploration and an independently calculated resource estimate compiled by SRK Consulting indicates the presence of Indicated and Inferred resources. These are contained within the three deposits, the Vodorazdelny, Ikenskoe and Maly Krumkon zones. An update to the Competent Person's Report within the Amur Admission Document dated November 2006 now indicates these three zones contain a total of 57.1Mt at a mean grade of 0.45% nickel, yielding 259,000 tonnes of contained nickel; 0.13% copper, containing 73,700 tonnes of contained copper. Presently, SRK Consulting (the Competent Person) is updating the resource estimate using the exploration drilling and trenching results obtained during the 2006 exploration field season.

Amur also owns the Anadjakan gold-copper exploration licence in Kharaborvsk Krai near the well infrastructured city of Elban.
